Curatorial Reports

The Curatorial Reports of the Nova Scotia Museum contain information on the collections and the preliminary results of research projects carried out under the program of the museum. The reports may be cited in publications but their manuscript status should be clearly stated.

Acknowledgements

This report would not have been possible without the many tedious hours of typing specimen information into the computer accomplished by Debbie Musgrave. The cataloguing was done by Robert Ogilvie, employed under the federal National Museums Program, and by the author. Corrections and editing were performed by Miss Musgrave, Fred Scott and the author.

Introduction

Specimens for the Economic Minerals Collection have been accumulating since 1833. The gold medal winning collections of ores and industrial products assembled for several international exhibitions forms the core of the collection. A number of the specimens were left on loan to the Department of Mines when the museum was transferred to the Department of Education. This material has now been returned and is incorporated into the collection.

It is only now, with the aid of rapid electronic data processing that the information contained in the collections can be easily prepared in a variety of special formats. The collection information presented here is an abbreviated form of the total data held on each specimen.

This report has been compiled using an Apple III computer running Haba's software package entitled /// E-Z Pieces™ (three easy pieces).

Collection Information

All the information about a particular specimen is recorded on a Specimen Record sheet. Each sheet has 62 "fields" of information. A field is a unit of information, such as the mineral's name, or locality from which it was collected or the collector's name etc. Appendix A is a Specimen Record sheet which contains the information about specimen number 980GE174.1 (compare this to the computer record on the next page).

Since the majority of specimens do not have information for all the fields, only the essential information was entered into the computer. The fields recorded in the computer are :

Catalogue number	abbreviated as	CAT.NO.:
Previous numbers	abbreviated as	PREV.NO.'S:
Mineral name	abbreviated as	NAME:
Accessory minerals	abbreviated as	ACC. MINRLS:
Number of specimens and weight (grams)	abbreviated as	NO.OF SP.& Wt.(g):

Information in this index

This index of economic ores and industrial products has been prepared to enable you to see at a glance, the contents of the Museum's Economic Mineral Collection. It should be noted that in the listings to follow the full contents of each field could not be displayed resulting in truncation of the information. This is illustrated below with the full record and with it reduced to its modified form in the EXAMPLE LISTING (underlined example) on the next page. In this example the list of accessory minerals has been truncated. Also because of space limitations several fields are not included in the listing.

How to use this index

The minerals and products listed here are in alphabetical order by name. They are secondarily arranged by locality. The locality is given in three separate columns. The first, lists the sub-province, province and country of origin. These are most commonly called County, Province and Country. The second locality column provides detailed information about where the specimen was collected, the third gives details of the mine or mineral property from which the specimen was collected. The locality columns are in alphabetical order. The last column lists the catalogue number for each specimen. These are in numerical order when more than one specimen originates from the same locality.

An example listing is given here. If you were trying to locate copper ore from the Cape Breton Copper Company, it is a simple matter of finding the listing of Copper Ore, under the NAME, then locate Cape Breton Co., N.S., under the CO., PROV., COUNTRY column, since Cape Breton Copper Company was located in Cape Breton County; then either locate Coxheath Hills within the column headed by LOCALITY, or locate Cape Breton Copper Company under MINE, PROP. NAME. As can be seen there are 4 or 5 references to the desired locality. If you wish to see the specimens, you may then make a note of the catalogue numbers (CAT. NO.) and contact the Curator of Geology.
