

Contributors

Jen Dumond is a Dalhousie School of Library and Information Studies (SLIS) student with an interest in health librarianship. She completed her BA in Sociology at Nipissing University in North Bay, Ontario. Jen has a Great Wall of books at home and is an avid reader of teen fiction. Jen plans to move to Ireland and marry Bono.

Sarah Jones is a tofu-eating vegetarian from Toronto. She will soon be graduating from the MLIS programme at Dalhousie University, and sports a degree in Cultural Anthropology from Trent University. Sarah enjoys watching The O.C. and eating Cherry Blasters. She has long been a fan of teen fiction and looks forward to graduation when she can Peruse it at her leisure.

Jennifer Knowlan is a pug-lovin', free-wheelin' librarian from Chilliwack. She loves teen fiction and operating heavy machinery. With a BA in English Literature from UBC, Jennifer is about to be unleashed on the world of librarianship. Look out, world, here she comes!

David Luinstra is an MLIS student at Dalhousie University and holds a Bachelor's degree in Music Performance from the University of Calgary. He enjoys tea, kittens, ballroom dancing, Beethoven, long walks in the park, and groovin' to Tower of Power.

Luke Malone is a soon-to-be-graduate of the MLIS programme at Dalhousie University. He holds a B.A. in English from Saint Mary's University in Halifax. He enjoys bowling, pizza, and tennis. Personally, me Sphinx he's a bit off.

