

Superheroes of Note (the Authors!)

Kathryn "Delinquent Slayer" Howe

Kathryn Howe is a library student/Jedi apprentice with extraordinary Force-sensitive powers. With the skill of a deadly bounty hunter, she can track patrons with overdue fines for hundreds of miles, often ending up in fierce lightsaber duels. She hopes one day to land a lucrative job at the Jedi Temple Archives, but until then she is content to continue her education with her fellow superheroes.

Tim "The Gallant Yonlib" Loge

Yonlib hears distress calls four canyons over and with Trusty Surefoot travels days at a time without food or water. Together they deliver library books to secluded communities in and around the Sonoran Desert and Canyon Lands. Not only do they deliver and pick up books, they also offer book talks, book lists, book clubs, guided discussions, literature circles and creative programming, all for the sole purpose of connecting a teen with the right book, meanwhile developing in them a love for reading.

Jocelyn "Josie" Harnois

Josie is a second year MLIS student who possesses not so much the super-power as the sheer will to spread her love of history to everyone, including teenagers. One day she hopes to do this by working in archives and preservation. Until then, she continues to hone her keen appraisal, processing and conservation super powers and holds firm to her belief that history can be studied in millions of ways, including through comic books!

Eric "Cybrarian" Drew

Once a mild mannered librarian, the Cybrarian was caught in an illegal download, and whisked away to Cyberspace. There he found a new cause to champion; the defense of unsuspecting youth. Cyber-fiends were using the link between flesh and electronics to twist and control young minds. Now, battling such foes as the Blue Screen of Death, Error 1 and, the sinister trio Control / Alt / Delete, he is the digital protector of future generations, keeping information and young adults free!

Susan "The Shusher" Ozon

By day, she's a mild mannered librarian. By night, she's a mild mannered librarian on a mission. Striving to wipe out disorder and chaos wherever she finds it, she roams the streets of Entropy City, putting books back in the proper place, sorting and resorting card catalogs, alphabetizing CD collections, tidying reference rooms, and keeping those rowdy patrons in line. Just when you think it's safe to chew gum in the library, the Shusher's there to make you spit it out.

Sarah "Otaku" MacLean

Sarah is small in stature but mighty in spirit. She is about to complete her training to become a youth librarian. With her special enhanced senses she intuitively knows what her young patrons need/want, often before they do. As well, she has the ability to understand teenagese and can translate any teenager's slang into regular English, without batting an eye. These qualities make her an asset to any library's Youth Services department.
