PATRICIA HANLEY

WEATHER

You've turned the colour of your mood now and conceal it in the terrible ardour of the sky whereas I listless as a cloud
stretch across vast distances knowing that after a bird is caught by the wind and thrown back again you will have changed your mind.