

SUSAN MCCASLIN

DWELLING IN POSSIBILITY

Cedars rise from duff
 their green names
wide-open cadenzas

Concatenation of crows—
nothing is as it is
for long

INTERTIDAL LIFE

my mother
flying in her bed—

transparent
as a sheaf of sea bones